UI/UX Portfolio

About Me

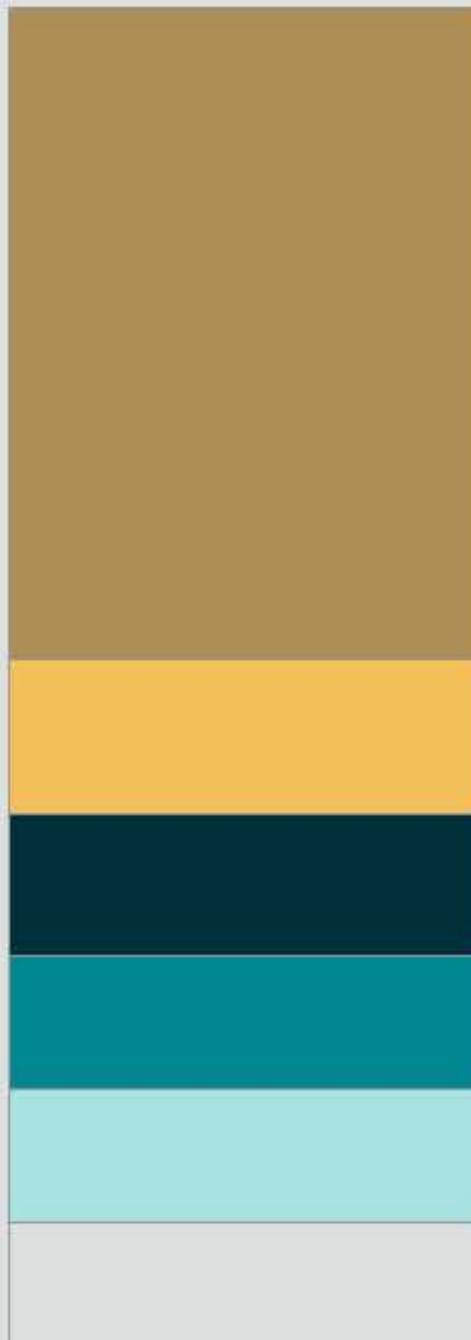

Hi there! My name is Divya Kothari and I'm a UI/UX Designer. I love creating beautiful experiences that work for both businesses and users. I enjoy working through data and numbers to create impactful designs.

I devote my spare time to cooking, photography and my dog, Googly.

Website concept about Pet services

The image displays a mobile application interface for pet services and a corresponding website landing page.

Mobile Application Interface:

- Top Bar: "Looking for" dropdown set to "Dog Walker" with a downward arrow, "Nearby" dropdown with a postal code input field, and a yellow "Search" button.
- Left Side: A "Download our App" button with a play icon and a dashed arrow pointing to a smartphone screen.
- Smartphone Screen: Shows the "Little Paws" app logo, a cat profile picture, and search fields for "Postal Code...", "Service kind", "Pet Kind", and a yellow "Search" button.
- Bottom: A second smartphone screen shows a map with several yellow location markers and a small image of a person holding a dog.

- Header: A large, close-up photograph of a French Bulldog puppy looking directly at the camera.
- Text: "scroll down ↓" (with a downward arrow) and a testimonial quote: "We can't imagine our vacation without our dog. Tom took care of our dog while we were away. He made sure we get regular updates and he was very punctual." - Bonie.
- Footer: The "Little Paws" logo with two paw prints, the text "Find loving pet sitter in your zone", and a circular profile picture of a person holding a dog.
